

Cutting tools

Until we meet again: Lach Diamant has great plans for post-Covid world

03.05.2021 | Editor: MA Alexander Stark

Germany — EMO 2019 in Hanover was the last time Lach Diamant could present their entire tool range for the automobile and accessories industry, aircraft and wind power industries, for tool and mould making, machine manufacturers, composite industry as well as for medical technology. The company had great plans — but then came the Corona pandemic paralyzing the economy.

Lach Diamant at EMO 2019

(Source: Lach Diamant)

Due to the Corona pandemic, Lach Diamant was forced to cancel their plans for trade fairs like Grind Tec in Augsburg, AMB in Stuttgart or IMTS in Chicago, which have been postponed and eventually cancelled. Only in 2022, Lach Diamant expects to meet their customers in person again at these fairs. However, everyone has to wait until 2023 for the next EMO to take place.

For the year 2022, the company has something special in store nonetheless: the 100th company anniversary is to be celebrated together with the customers. Not only due to the anticipation of this event, the company has been far from idle. For instance, the manufacturer has been striving to maintain the supply capability for their customers, also by increasing the warehouse stock.